FROM THE EAST—

Why Masonry means different things to each and every Brother!

For this month's message I thought we would delve into why I believe Masonry means something different to each and every Brother. As members of the human family our lives are guided by three distinct duties or privileges that shape our values and these values carryover into our Masonic lives. We as Masons are reminded of these privileges prior to receiving the obligation in each of our degrees. They are our Civil, Moral and Religious duties or privileges. As each of these duties or privileges are based upon our individual walks through life; they cannot and should not be the same for everyone. Life treats all members of the human family differently; no two individuals observing the same event are touched in the same way.

Therefore, it becomes our Duty and Obligation to respect each and every Brother's vision of what Masonry means to him.

Fraternally;

William J. Simone, WM
